this book documents how nurses have shown their dedication courage expertise and compassion in helping communities prepare for respond to and recover from disastrous events it aims to inspire and equip nurses and other health professionals to help people in disaster affected areas and contribute to community resilience the last decade 2005 2015 has been characterized by a number of overwhelming natural disasters tropical storms floods earthquakes tsunamis and threats of emerging infectious diseases sars merscov and ebola around the world countries from the asia pacific region such as australia cambodia china indonesia india japan nepal philippines solomon islands south korea thailand and vanuatu have borne the brunt of the devastation caused by these catastrophic events nurses from these countries have stepped in providing emergency care in hospitals and in the field addressing public health needs in evacuation centers supporting epidemiologic surveillance and conducting health education training and research to help save lives and support communities build back better in this book aviation expert chris thomas inspired to research typhoons by his own father who flew numerous raids in a typhoon during world war 2 extols the great importance of the typhoon wings in the ultimate allied victory in europe the typhoon was the raf s heavyweight fighter bomber of choice to support the british and canadian armies during the invasion of northwest europe he describes their destruction of german radar in the lead up to d day the use of large scale rocket projectiles in land battles and pinpoint attacks on german command and control centres which crippled the wehrmacht s ability to respond quickly to allied troop movements but not everything went smoothly for the typhoon wings thomas discusses their epic battle with highly effective german flak installations which prompted air chief marshal sir harry broadhurst to remark i suppose that flying one of these aircraft was the most dangerous task the air force has ever asked anybody to do during the last three years progress at reducing undernourishment has slowed tremendously in asia and the pacific after years of gains in combatting hunger progress has stagnated in all parts of this vast region despite decades of economic growth nearly half a billion people remain undernourished children in particular continue to face the burden of malnutrition this region is home to more than half of the world's malnourished children with one child in every four below the age of five suffering from stunting this is a colossal human loss given the association between undernutrition and poor cognitive development with severe lifelong consequences for these children at the same time and almost paradoxically asia and the pacific has witnessed rapid growth in the number of overweight children and the serious consequences that entails for their future health and well being this double burden of malnutrition sees undernourished and overweight children living in the same communities and households and it can even occur within the same child efforts to fight hunger and malnutrition must go hand in hand with those to build and sustain peace and there is an urgent need to accelerate and scale up actions that strengthen resilience and adaptive capacity of people and their livelihoods to climate variability and extremes as migration from rural to urban areas continues apace particularly involving poorer families urban malnutrition is another challenge facing many countries in summary what is becoming increasingly clear is that the world cannot meet the 2030 target of zero hunger if asia and the pacific the world's most populous region is not leading the way it is a hard reality but one that must be faced with a united determination to turn things around for the first time four un agencies have come together to jointly assess the state of food security and nutrition in asia and the pacific together we hope that the findings of this report will contribute to a more informed dialogue without doubt all stakeholders must make much greater efforts to accelerate progress toward the goals of a healthy and hunger free asia and the pacific action is needed now the sense of urgency cannot be overstated european states have embarked on the long road to rebuilding their defence capabilities after decades of underinvestment in the armed forces and the defence industrial base the challenges are significant however since russia's full scale invasion of ukraine in february 2022 nato countries have committed to ambitious readiness and war fighting plans against this background this iiss strategic dossier evaluates key areas for building defence capabilities in europe including recent developments in the transatlantic defence ecosystem defence spending defence industrial production capacity building more resilient forces and improving supply chain security europe's ability to meet its nato commitments will depend on the degree to which it manages to address these important issues the analysis covers the trend of increased defence spending by most european nato members and the growth in defence production capacity in important capability areas it also provides insights into the ways in which various european countries have sought to address their recruitment and retention challenges the volume discusses other ongoing challenges including uncertainty over the long term affordability sustainability and effectiveness of increased defence spending in europe in addition the dossier highlights the requirement for long term government investment as well as firm demand signals in order to sustain increased defence production this iiss strategic dossier was produced in the context of the iiss prague defence summit pds 2024 which has been supported by the government of the czech republic how globalized information networks can be used for strategic advantage until recently globalization was viewed on balance as an inherently good thing that would benefit people and societies nearly everywhere now there is growing concern that some countries will use their position in globalized networks to gain undue influence over other societies through their dominance of information and financial networks a concept known as weaponized interdependence in exploring the conditions under which china russia and the united states might be expected to weaponize control of information and manipulate the global economy the contributors to this volume challenge scholars and practitioners to think differently about foreign economic policy national security and statecraft for the twenty first century the book addresses such questions as what areas of the global economy are most vulnerable to unilateral control of information and financial networks how sustainable is the use of weaponized interdependence what are the possible responses from targeted actors and how sustainable is the open global economy if weaponized interdependence becomes a default tool for managing international relations orthopaedic trauma represents 75 of the casualties in a disaster many of these patients will be cared for by international volunteers but good intentions are not always matched by good preparation this book explains how best to prepare for missions how to deal with injuries in austere conditions how to ensure a positive legacy and the need for cultural political and legal awareness all of the most common orthopaedic presentations encountered in the austere environment are covered in addition to evidence based research cases and actual experiences from the authors missions are included to illustrate and bring to life key points this book written by a team of international experts with extensive experience of challenging field missions will be an ideal practical guide for volunteers and health care workers helping them to deal with confusing chaotic and distressing situations with greater confidence and efficacy the size and scope of the global forced migration crisis are unprecedented almost 66 million people worldwide have been forced from home by conflict if recent trends continue this figure could increase to between 180 and 320 million people by 2030 this global crisis already poses serious challenges to economic growth and risks to stability and national security as well as an enormous human toll affecting tens of millions of people these issues are on track to get worse without significant course correction soon the forced migration issues confronted today will seem simple decades from now yet efforts to confront the crisis continue to be reactive in addressing these and other core issues the united states should broaden the scope of its efforts beyond the tactical and reactive to see the world through a more strategic lens colored by the challenges posed and opportunities created by the forced migration crisis at home and abroad csis convened a diverse task force in 2017 to study the global forced migration crisis this report is a result of those findings
