Letters to a young nurse is a collection of inspirational and moving reflections on nursing and our place in the world. Each letter warmly written with compelling insight addresses challenges frequently encountered by nurses. These letters are rooted in decades of nursing experience; they emerge from thousands of conversations at bedsides and nurses' stations in addition to countless visits with nursing students in classrooms, labs, clinical rotations, and during faculty office hours. Every page of this book strives to breathe wisdom and life into the nursing spirit. This gathering of reflections will fortify commitment to career purpose while enhancing a vision of the deeper realities and meaning of a nursing career. You will find in this collection of letters just what the author intended: an inspiring and cherished gift for the future of nursing and humanity.

Bradshaw Clinical Practice Oxford Brookes University describes the British apprenticeship model of nurse training from its inception at St Thomas's Hospital in 1860 until its ending in 1977 with the publication of the last national syllabus from the General Nursing Council for England and Wales. A sampling of topics includes the principles of apprenticeship described in Florence Nightingale's writings, an analysis of nursing textbooks, parliamentary debates about nursing, the American influence on the British nursing tradition, and the process which led to the professional consensus on apprenticeship. For many, Florence Nightingale is the most famous woman of her day, second only perhaps to Queen Victoria. Celebrated and beloved by the public and her friends, considered an irritant by politicians and bureaucrats, the great reformer remains a figure of considerable controversy. In this full life in letters, we see her at first hand. Martha Vicinus and Bea Nergaard weave together a narrative account and a selection of her letters in such a way as to create in Nightingale's own words a fascinating portrayal of the woman, her career, and her concerns.
